

ABSTRACT

The present invention pertains to a method for detecting quinolone-resistant Escherichia coli strains in a biological sample. The present invention also relates to a kit adapted to perform the inventive method.